Thank you for your condolences. The days my Grandmother spent at Edgemont were amongst her most treasured, rivaling even those of family gatherings at times! ♡ She loved you each and she considered each and every one of you family. Her love and dedication to our Lord and her church is beyond words and explanation in such a small space. I'm finally beginning to understand that she's no longer suffering and is in a better place, watching over me, hand-in-hand again with Grandpa Bill (whom she mourned daily until her parting from this earth) each and every single moment of each and every single day until we rejoice in joining our souls again in His Kingdom. I know that she loved each of you as family and I am certain that at some point throughout the day she looks down on you as well. May you all find yourselves blessed fulfilled with a safe and healthy happy holiday season. Always with a smile & a prayer,
Erica Rae
