“ Where can I start.....I met Joyce in 1987 , the year I got married. She became very dear to me over the years. She watched my family grow into adulthood and always asked me how my mom and dad were when she saw me. The Lord broke the mold when he made her. God Bless you all! I will miss her so much.

“ I think Joyce was one of my husband's favorite people. He would tell me he needed to go by her house and often stayed longer than he needed to so he could visit with her. I'm sure she was the go to for many people. When Eddie passed in November I don't know what I would have done without her. She spoke so highly of Eddie and encouraged me as I took care of things with his business. She offered great advice and understanding in a positive professional way. She became a special person to me, too, and I often stayed longer, just to visit.

I'm sure that in heaven she and Eddie will be talking about what I did and will continue to support my decisions. I will miss her greatly!
