“ My dear, sweet Melinda. She was my best friend, and I loved her like a sister. She was the one person understood me. It's funny but when we first met, we disliked each other, and then one day we bantering back and forth, and we realized that we actually did like each other. I look back and I remember that every time it got cold outside, Melinda would always be wearing her earmuffs, she also had this weird obsession of collecting wood, and this scary stupid movie about zombie sheeps or something like that. Melinda loved her children and grandchildren more than anything in this world. My heart is broken that she is gone, but the only thing that is helping me through this is that she is no longer in pain and that she is at peace, looking down at all her loved ones and knowing that she was loved.
